Pacific Eye's Doctors are Touring the Central Coast

Come see a Pacific Eye doctor speak in your community

San Luis Obispo, CA, August 4, 2010:

Pacific Eye, leaders in comprehensive eye care on the Central Coast, is dedicated to informing the community about eye care. In August, September, and October Pacific Eye doctors will be giving free eye care seminars to the public along the Central Coast.

The Doctors and Staff of Pacific Eye value educating the public to further improve their health. Everyone in the community should be aware of important topics such as cataracts, glaucoma, macular degeneration, LASIK, and general eye care. By learning about these topics you can be more prepared to seek care for your vision as it changes.

Pacific Eye doctors strive to help you better understand treatment options that can maintain and restore your vision. Pacific Eye's CEO, Rob Thielscher agrees, "It is exciting and rare to work with such a large team of doctors who are involved in the community."

Free Seminars:

Dr. Amir - August 18th, 6:00 pm – 7:00 pm

Arroyo Grande Community Hospital, Arroyo Grande

Topic: Cataracts, macular degeneration, and changing vision with age.

Dr. Amir - August 25th, 12:00 pm
